Gjoa Haven is recognized as a leader in the adoption of clean energy technology and has dedicated funds for a minimum of three years for the expansion of solar energy projects. In addition, there are opportunities to collaborate with academic and other organizations on a number of interesting projects. The Hamlet is seeking a motivated, community-minded individual with training and experience in science and technology to coordinate special projects, provide community education, and liaise with partners to help ensure the success of their partnerships with our community.

Duties include:
- Coordination of clean energy and other special projects within the community
- Communication with academic and other partners
- Leading community engagement and education initiatives related to clean energy programs, science and research projects

The ideal candidate will have post-secondary training and/or significant experience in the in the areas of science or research. Preference will be given to Nunavut Inuit.

The wage for this 3-year term position is $40 per hour. The position is eligible for Nunavut Northern Allowance and other Hamlet benefits.

This position will be open until filled.

Please send your resume to HR@gjoahaven.ca

We thank all applicants in advance, however, only those selected for an interview will be contacted.
The content of this page is in Inuktitut. It appears to be a job application process, with various sections dedicated to different aspects of the application. The text includes formatting, such as bolded and italicized sections, which may indicate important information or instructions. There are also some sections that seem to be related to contact information and further instructions for applicants.

There is a section that mentions a specific email address: HR@gjoahaven.ca. Additionally, there is a note that mentions a dollar amount, $40, followed by some other information that is not entirely clear due to the formatting and language barriers.

In summary, the page seems to be part of a job application form or guide, with specific instructions and contact information provided.